

A NEW GOVERNOR

Takes Charge of Kansas, Succeeding the Populist.

HIS INAUGURAL MESSAGE

Breathes a Different Spirit From that of his Predecessor Leedy—His Liberal Expressions with Regard to the Railroads in Marked Contrast to the Demagogic Enmity of the Retiring Executive.

TOPEKA, Kas., Jan. 10.—To-day Governor Stanley, the Republican successor to Governor Leedy, Populist, said, in an inaugural message to the legislature:

"We are reaching the highlands of prosperity, but we have surely come up out of the lowlands of adversity. Old debts have been paid, and few new ones have been incurred. The dawn after the dark night of our misfortunes we are proud that we did not compromise our individual honesty or the honor of our state."

Concerning insurance, he says the law is ample, but it should fix the charges for examination, and require full reports of all examinations to be made and filed, that the public may have some knowledge of the character and result of such examinations. All insurance companies, orders and societies of any kind doing insurance business in the state should be placed under the charge of the insurance department.

Concerning banks, he says: "The information furnished in the report of the bank commissioner is very gratifying. I heartily concur in the recommendations of the commissioner that building and loan associations within the state be placed under the control of that department, and that outside companies be required to give security for the protection of Kansas investors as a condition precedent to doing business in the state. The commissioner also recommends the creation of a guarantee fund for the protection of bank depositors. No one thing connected with the business of banks would be more desirable than some provision securing the safety of depositors."

Referring to railroads, he says they have done great good to the state in developing it. They pay large taxes—more than the entire personal property of the state, and have 50,000 employees, who receive $15,000,000 in annual wages. It seems strange that agencies which have done so much for the state are not bearing such a large portion of its burdens, and furnishing employment to so many of its laborers should be met by the people in a spirit of unfriendliness; yet it is apparent that such a spirit exists.

The causes for these conditions are numerous. On the one hand the political demagogue has been constant, in season and out of season, in inciting the people against the railroads, that he might gain personal and political advantage. On the other hand the railroad management has offered ample ground for the discontent which exists. It can hardly be hoped that there will be a re-establishment of the old time relations of cordiality and good will while these reasons remain.

The railroad companies have large sums invested, and should be allowed to realize a reasonable profit on the amount invested. The people of this state are too fair-minded to so limit the rate of transportation over railroad lines so as to cripple the companies, prevent them from realizing a reasonable income on their capital or from paying to the great army of laboring men they employ, good wages. They believe, however, that the railroads have discriminated against Kansas communities, and out of this belief has grown much of the feeling of dissatisfaction which now prevails.

He recommends that some method be adopted permitting all railway men to vote when they are away from their homes with their trains on election day.

Touching on prohibition, he says the law has been indifferently enforced, that as a political question it has run its course; as an economic one—should command earnest attention. He says the law has been a settled policy in the state for eighteen years, the wisdom of which he will not discuss, but believes that whatever failure in enforcing the law has existed is due mainly to the metropolitan police system, which he declares a "failure, scandal and disgrace." He says the law should be equally enforced with all others, and the metropolitan police system has failed to meet the expectations of its friends and its abolition meets with his approval.

SITUATION IN CUBA

From a Cuban Standpoint—General Gomez Misrepresented.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—A special from Washington says: Dr. Jose Antonio Friar, chairman of the finance committee of the Cuban assembly, and one of the leading lawyers of the island, has arrived in Washington, and will present to the department of state a plan for the settlement of the financial system of Cuba. This plan includes a method of appropriating certain revenues toward payment of the Cuban soldiers when they are disbanded, and other financial measures for the relief of the poor.

Dr. Friar is a leading candidate for the appointment of chief justice, although it is asserted that his mission in Washington at this time is not to further his candidacy for that office, but is solely for the purpose of presenting his financial plan.

"In addition to the financial scheme which we have proposed," said Dr. Friar, "Dr. Capote, president of the Cuban assembly, has, with others, worked out an admirable plan for the government of the island, drawn from the knowledge of the existing laws and practices of the courts and various local offices, and which will be submitted to the United States."

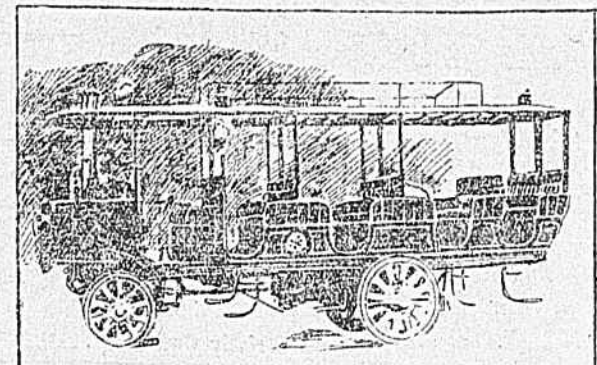

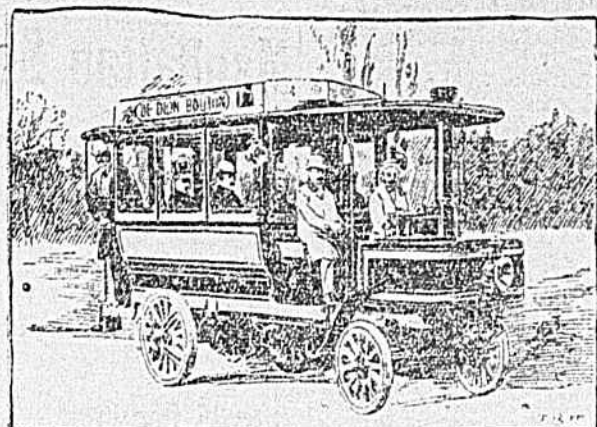

"Already General Brooke has surrounded himself with some of the ablest leaders as advisers. They realize that, for the present, American intervention is necessary. The leaders have become reconciled to it, and the great mass of the people are steadily coming to take this view of the matter. I regard it as necessary, however, that Cubans should be made the police officers."

NEW YORK'S AUTOMOBILE STAGES.

The famous old Fifth Avenue stages of New York City, drawn by their hopeless horses, are to be replaced by a motorized stage, which will be soon in operation. In summer there will be open automobile wagons which will run the entire length of Fifth Avenue. This is one of the greatest innovations New York City will see during '99.

ers in all the large cities, for the reason that they understand the people, know who the malefactors are, are able better to apprehend them and prevent trouble than the Americans.

"General Gomez has been grossly misrepresented in a great many respects. I have reason to know that he is not anti-American, as has been charged against him. The statements that he has opposed American intervention, I know to be absolutely and maliciously false. General Gomez is a true patriot, he has made as many sacrifices as any man, living or dead, for the cause of Cuban independence, and in this statement I am in no way belittling the grand efforts and the noble sacrifices of the many martyrs to the cause of Cuban liberty. Patriot as he is, he realizes that American intervention at this time is a necessity. He sees it, as do other Cuban leaders, and as it is a necessity, he not only tolerates it without objection, but is in favor of it."

THE DREYFUS CASE.

The Resignation of Beaupre has Aroused Interest.

PARIS, Jan. 10.—The resignation of M. Quesnay de Beaupre, president of the civil section of the court of cassation, has revived interest in the Dreyfus case, which had calmed down during the past few days, to the fever point. The anti-Dreyfusites are doing everything possible to discredit the court of cassation, as it is generally accepted in the best informed circles that the court is preparing to render judgment in favor of Dreyfus.

The cabinet met this afternoon under the presidency of President Faure, who issued a decree accepting the resignation of M. De Beaupre and appointing Counselor Ballot de Beaupre to succeed him.

The minister of justice, M. Lohet, announced that M. Mazan, the first president of the court of cassation will preside over the criminal section of the court of cassation, instead of M. Lowe, when the Dreyfus inquiry is terminated and the court meets to take a decision.

This step has been taken in consequence of the violent attacks on M. Lowe, based on the fact that he is a Jew.

The minister also read the telegraphic deposition from Dreyfus in which he not only declared he had never confessed that he was guilty to Captain Lebrun-Renault, who had charge of the prisoner at the time of his condemnation and degradation, but insisted that he had always protested his innocence and had indignantly refused to sign the declaration of his intention to declare publicly that his innocence would be recognized in two or three years.

Shipping Interests Heard.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 10.—Prominent representatives of American shipping interests were heard to-day by the house committee on merchant marine and fisheries relative to the measure introduced in the senate by Mr. Hanna, and in the house by Mr. Payne, "to promote the commerce and increase the foreign trade of the United States and to provide auxiliary cruisers, transports and seamen for government use when necessary."

The main features of the measure is a graded subsidy to American ships based on tonnage and service. Among those present were ex-Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, who appeared for the shipping interests; President C. A. Griscom, of the International Navigation Company; Commissioner of Navigation Chamberlain; Edward R. Sharwood, secretary of the Philadelphia maritime exchange; Arthur Sewall, of Maine, and President Hyde, of the Bath Iron works.

As told in this newspaper a few months ago, Miss Virginia Fair, the beautiful California heiress, is soon to become the bride of young William K. Vanderbilt, of New York. The betrothal is the most notable one in society for a long time, from the fact that two of the greatest fortunes in the country will be united.

Miss Fair is estimated to be worth $5,000,000, to put it moderately, besides other claims that will come to her in future years. She is the daughter of the late Senator James G. Fair, of California, the "Bonanza King."

WHEELING ALIVE.

To the Good of His People, And Glad to be so.

When you know a good thing tell it. It will not lessen its goodness. But will do good to others. If you've been cured tell it.

Waiting to find out how. There are lots of lame backs in Wheeling.

It's a busy place, and backs are used. There's urinary trouble to a large extent.

Ever notice how many people over forty complain?

Seven out of ten say cold affects their kidneys.

The kidneys are the cause, not the cold.

Keep them in shape and life is life. You can do it easily and pleasantly. No nauseating disturbances. No effect except on the kidneys. But that effect is quick and permanent.

Doan's Kidney Pills do perfect work.

Wheeling is full of their praises. Mr. W. S. Neisewander, painter and decorator, of No. 26 South Wash street, says: "Although my back was weak for several years, and I never got anything that gave me more than temporary relief, I always thought there must be something that would do the work for me. When I saw the advertisement of Doan's Kidney Pills and went to the Logan Drug Company and got a box I had a great deal of confidence in them. I was well repaid, as they thoroughly rid me of my back-ache and made me feel better in every way. I had such a constant dull aching and weakness across my loins that when I was down I could hardly get up, and often, when working, my back would feel so weak that I would be obliged to rest it by often changing my position. My nervous system became affected, and very frequently, especially if I exerted myself, I would have a fluttering around the heart. Tired and depressed, and without accustomed energy, I was, in fact, generally run down, but Doan's Kidney Pills removed my trouble, and in recommending them to others I do so firmly believing they will get the same results."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

STUDENT OF FILIPINOS.

Prof. Worcester Talks of Their Traits and Condition—One Course for United States—Must Secure Confidence of the Leaders and Through Them Convince the People.

Washington Post: "If the United States would successfully govern the Philippines it must first convince the people of those islands of its own good intentions toward them and its determination to give them a just and equitable government—something which they have never before enjoyed. To do this it is absolutely necessary to secure the confidence of the leaders." This is the keynote of the Philippine situation at the present time, as expressed by Prof. D. C. Worcester, of Ann Arbor, Mich., who was yesterday a guest at the National Hotel.

"There are eighty-three separate and distinct tribes of people in the Philippine Islands," said Prof. Worcester, "each with its own dialect, customs, and manners. And, first of all, I must say an erroneous impression has gone forth regarding these people. Particularly is this so with relation to the tribe known as the Negritos, whom, I have seen it stated, constitute the great population of the islands, and people have been misled upon the possibility of a Negro being elected to the United States senate. Nothing could be further from the truth. The Negritos are a small, dwarfish, unintelligent people, who are supposed to be the aborigines of the islands. It is true that they are naked savages, but they present no problem. They are found only in the most remote portions of the islands, in the center of Luzon and Mindanao and close to the tops of the high mountains. They are the lowest type of the inhabitants of the islands, but they are fast becoming extinct. Their death rate is largely in excess of their birth rate, and has been for some years. They have been unable to compete with the descendants of the Malays, and will soon cease to exist. In fact, there are few of them now left, and they are exceedingly difficult to find."

"The remainder of the people might be divided into three distinct groups, the civilized Filipinos, who constitute 5,000,000 of the 10,000,000 of inhabitants of the islands; the Pagans and the Moros, who are Mohammedans. The civilized Filipino is a decent sort of a fellow, and has many qualities greatly to be admired. He is cleanly, builds himself a comfortable home—the best that his condition enables him to provide—cares for his family, exercises self-control, dresses himself tastefully, is patient, sober, and self-respecting. He possesses the elements for making a good citizen. His family life is, indeed, admirable. The women are given much liberty, and the Filipino consults his wife in all his business affairs. In fact she conducts many of them for him. The Filipino is exceedingly hospitable, even to people of different nationalities, but he expects the same degree of welcome extended in return. His children are obedient and well-behaved."

"Notwithstanding all this, the Filipino has been subjected to the worst sort of misrule for years. The Spanish policy has always been to keep him not only in subjection, and to use him only for purposes of taxation, but has also sought to keep him in ignorance. Consequently, the vast majority of the Filipinos are ignorant and unlettered. If one gains an education, for instance, by going abroad and studying, when he returns he is usually a marked man. He will perhaps be invited aboard a ship of war by some Spanish officers, and never be heard from again. One of the provisions of the law has been that Spanish should be the language taught in all the schools, but they have made no effort to provide the schools. Education has not only been discouraged, but prevented. Again, the use and ownership of firearms has been prohibited, and those who venture to own weapons without a royal order from the captain general were punished by long terms of imprisonment. The chief reason for the success of the last uprising was the fact that in some manner or another the natives secured something with which to fight."

"It is a well-known fact that the Philippine Islands have been considered as nothing more than a plundering ground for Spanish officials. The people have been taxed without mercy, and they have received absolutely nothing in return. They have not even common roads, and only a very short line of railway on the islands. They have no lines of communication, and there has been no justice. The man who could pay the most money always got the verdict in a suit. But in getting it there was no assurance that another court would not for a further consideration, reverse the verdict, for there have been three or four different sets of laws."

"Neither have they received any protection from the bandits who gather in the mountains and prey upon the peaceable citizens. Having no arms, they have been absolutely unable to defend themselves and have been at the mercy of the Spanish officials and the bands of robbers. Consequently, what is necessary, if the United States is to assume control of the islands, is to convince the people of the good intentions of the American government and to impress upon them the fact that they will be given a good government. But the Filipinos follow their leaders like sheep, and their leaders must, therefore, be won over. During my investigations upon the islands, many of the better classes of Filipinos often said to me that it would be a good thing if only England or America would seize the islands and give them a good government. But their expenditure of money in the white man's government has been so full. As I said, they follow their leaders blindly, believing that they have a charm, even to the extent of resisting leaden bullets. Many even believe now that Aguinaldo is bullet-proof, and never will tell you that they have seen shots fired at him glance off and leave him unharmed. But so far as he is concerned, or his official following, neither presents any formidable obstacle which the American government cannot, with ease, by the use of tact, discretion, and good judgment overcome.

"But, as regards other classes, what are known as the Pagans occupy some portions of the island of Luzon; one tribe is located in Mindanao, and others are living in some of the smaller islands in the north. They are not cannibals, as some have represented. In fact there are none which might be called savage tribes, although there are some tribes of head hunters, but this is more of a religious ceremony than anything else. They are small in numbers, and occupy the most remote places. Their 'head hunting' is chiefly carried on in what is known as the 'fire tree' in bloom. They need present no serious difficulty."

"The worst element to be dealt with is found in the tribes of Moros or Mohammedans, who inhabit the islands of Mindanao, Moro, Sulu, and some of the smaller islands in the southern part of the group. To keep them in subjection would probably require a considerable force. But the solution of the question, so far as they are concerned, for the present, is not difficult. It is to confine them to their own islands, and not permit them to prey upon the inhabitants of the other islands. They are fighters, and consider that every Christian killed is a service and duty performed to Allah. The Spaniards have found that it was necessary to patrol the coasts of their islands. This is the only manner in which they can be handled, and there are still some who need protection from them, and to whom aid should be extended. In the island Sulu, for instance, it is estimated that there are 10,000 fighting men. It is necessary to confine them to that territory until they can be brought to obey law. The Moros were engaged in taking possession of islands at the time of the Spanish conquest, and Spain has never been able to subdue or exterminate them."

"Of the civilized tribes there are the Tagalogs, the Ilocanos, who inhabit northern and central and southern parts of the island of Luzon, and the Visayans, who also inhabit the central portions. It is the members of the latter tribe who are now holding Iloilo."

HAIR

AFTER USING.

Can be grown on heads which are as bald as the one shown here on left side, as that is one of myself, showing how bald I have been for nine years, and now have a full and complete head of hair, as you can see by the cut on the right side. Of course, the head must not be shiny bald. This can be done with the use of the hair oil.

DOES YOUR HEAD ITCH? If so, this germ is lurking in your scalp; the one you see here is a tiny five thousand times its natural size, but this is just as it looks under a microscope; they can be found in most scalps where the hair is coming out. Prof. Birkholz has found as many as 500 in one scalp; they destroy the hair, and will only breed where the hair is coming out. The germ is a tiny five thousand times its natural size, but this is just as it looks under a microscope; they can be found in most scalps where the hair is coming out.
